

Charity Week

Annual Report 2011

Introduction

The aim of Charity Week for Orphans & Needy Children has always been to nurture unity: 2011 was no different. Measuring success is always harder when you're trying to achieve something intangible, but for those who experience it, the baraka (blessing) of the project is undeniably there.

This year's Charity Week Annual Report contains all the vital statistics on financing and fundraising but also highlights some of the major changes that have occurred organisationally. The project has grown both in complexity and in ambition since its inception in 2004. The challenge has been to maintain transparency and openness. The future is likely to throw us challenges as has the past, but we believe that as long as our intentions are purely to please Allah and we remain true to our ultimate vision of uniting the Muslim youth upon Islam we will continue to be successful.

The Regions

London

London, the birthplace of Charity Week, demands much from a team that work around the clock to help reach its potential. The challenges are enormous, but so are the rewards.

Regional Reps: Tasnim Khanom and Talha Ansari. Regional Team: Anisah Khan, Sameeyah Owais, Afsara Ahmed, Sarah Rhammaz, Munaj Alavudeen, Salim Ahmed, Tasnim Kabir, Awais Ali, Zakariyya Ahmed, Safa Mujahid, Sofia Ahmed

South

In only the second year of running Charity Week, the South region stepped up a gear like experienced pros. From Plymouth to Portsmouth, the excitement and dedication has been inspirational.

Regional Rep: Mamoun Asgheddi

Midlands

A difficult year was saved by the bell through a lot of sweat, blood and tears. Though it was a long road, the journey was definitely worth it with more people taking part than ever before.

Regional Reps: Naeem Bhola, Ridah Bashir, Mariam Kadodia. Regional Team: Suhail Debar

North

This year, the focus shifted away from regional centres and towards areas not used to the limelight. From Lancaster to Hull, from Huddersfield to Sheffield - students accepted the challenge to unite and make a difference for the sake of the Orphans.

Regional Rep: Zeeshan Anwar. Regional Team: Ayesha Salim, Somia Mohammed

Scotland

These bravehearts showed they were no Scrooge McDucks when it comes to raising money for Orphans. The Scots may want independence from the UK, but these lads and lasses want nothing more than to be united with their brethren across the world.

Wales

The Welsh moved forward whilst the West seemed to have lost some steam. Despite the mixed picture, Wales managed to move forward whilst enjoying themselves hugely in the process.

Regional Rep: Mohammed Sabri

Ireland

As efficient as ever, the Ireland team managed to pull off a smooth Charity Week in less time than most people would take to organise a bake sale. Some say it is down to their Irish charm. Others say it's the Malaysian organisational abilities. We say - well done!

Regional Rep: Nadira Shahrul
Baharin, AbdulMalik Dredar

What students say...
 "Charity Week brings a smile to the faces of thousands of orphans every year through the unity of Muslims around the country."

Budget & Expenses

Once the great Caliph Umar ibn AbdulAziz (R) was sitting in his office receiving petitions from members of the public. A man he knew came to talk to him about non-governmental business. Before the man could utter a word, the Caliph quickly put out the candle that was providing light in the room. On being questioned as to why he did this he replied that the candle is paid from the treasury for official state business. Since they were going to speak about things that have nothing to do with this, it was not fitting to have the public pay for their candlelight even for a brief moment. Here at Charity Week, we try to live up to such shining examples and hope that the next few pages reflects our desire to do so.

REGIONAL DISTRIBUTION OF PENNYBOXES & BUCKETS

Provision of resources to volunteers make up the absolute bulk of the Charity Week annual expenditure.

Buckets and pennyboxes are the bread and butter of Charity Week, therefore it is important we understand how they are being used... or abused.

PENNYBOX & BUCKET RETURNS

Results

The Prophet Muhammad (PBUH) said: "Tie your camel first, then put your trust in Allah," (Tirmidhi). Charity Week has never been about the money but, as the hadith clearly points out, those who prepare more - practically and spiritually - are likely to succeed.

It's important to note that there are no bar charts or infographics that can measure the amount of effort that people put in, or the amount of sincerity that they have shown. Charity Week is a competition for the good, where 1p may be more valuable than £1 million.

How was the money banked?

Over the last 9 years we have continually tried to find out the best system to bank the money raised during Charity Week. Each year sees some improvement. This year a new one-person banking technique, multiple webinars (attended by nearly 50% of participating institutions) and a campaign to highlight the importance of fulfilling this amanah (trust) has improved the situation further.

Emergency nutritional support for starving children

East Africa £130,050

The famine in East Africa has led to immense suffering. 50% of people in the area are malnourished with over 640,000 acutely malnourished children. At the height of the famine there were over 10,000 children dying a month. The pictures of children dying from hunger and thirst in their parents arms will haunt us forever.

Your efforts have paid for:

- Over 1,100 moderately and severely malnourished children to be treated
- Recruitment of healthcare personnel
- Purchasing of necessary medicines and equipment
- Use of existing mobile health clinics to find malnourished children
- Provision of healthcare for these children till they are healthy enough to eat and drink

13 year old Abdul Illahi and 3 month old Ruqayyah, both received emergency nutritional support

Material and technical assistance to artificial limb centre Grozny, Chechnya £102,710.06

The war in Chechnya has caused much suffering with many children being orphaned or handicapped. There are over 53,000 disabled children in Chechnya and over 15,000 are in desperate need of artificial limbs.

There are a very few specialist centres that make and repair

Case Study: Rizwan

Rizwan has cerebral paralysis, unable to walk sit or speak. He presently wears prosthesis to stabilise his legs and feet called "tutters", which are helping him begin to walk. He has two siblings, aged 5 and 3, but his mother needs to stay with him full time – so his father looks after the other two children. This limits his ability to work and the family receive only 8500 Rubles (£180) as disability allowance, which isn't enough to cover the family needs. The cost of tutters is 20,000 Rubles (£430), which Rizwan received free from the centre.

Images from the Grozny Prosthetic-Orthopedic Laboratory, helped by funds raised in Charity Week 2011 limbs for these children. Unfortunately, many of the disabled children live in remote rural areas and cannot even get to the artificial limb centre in the first place. The Grozny Prosthetic-Orthopedic Laboratory is able to help 700 children in dire need, but needed your support to continue the work that they do.

Your efforts have paid for:

- 312 pairs of prosthetic footwear
- 18 prosthetic limbs
- 1 mini-van with a hoist to pick up disabled children from remote areas and bring them to the centre
- New equipment for the lab that makes the artificial limbs

Physical and psychological development of Orphans Baghdad, Iraq £27,113.41

There are more than 4.5 Million orphaned children in Iraq today with up to 500,000 living rough on the streets. They suffer from neglect of their health, lack of education and psychological trauma on a scale that is simply hard for us to imagine.

An entire generation of Iraqi children are growing up with physical and psychological stresses.

Your efforts have paid for:

- 500 Orphans in Baghdad to receive physical, educational and psychological support
- Vision and dental health checks
- Hygiene kits for each orphan and training in hygiene to their guardians
- An interview encouraging them to share their experiences and psychological support given to those who need it
- Enrolled into a reading contest
- Books and magazines to read
- A free gift for every orphan
- The children will enjoy a meal together and play time

Rehabilitation of 30 Orphan homes West Bank, Palestine £99,998

An assessment carried out by Islamic Relief discovered that more than 85% of IR-sponsored orphans live in poor housing conditions. As the meagre amount the family has is spent on food and healthcare, the homes lack hygiene, sanitation, running water, a safe roof or functioning bathroom. Living in such a difficult environment adversely impacts the orphans health and quality of life.

Your efforts have paid for:

- 30 homes being refurbished
- Repair of water and sewage systems
- Repair of roof tops as well as floors, ceilings and windows

Clean water and sanitation for orphan homes Drenica Valley, Kosova £15,660.39

Charity Week has funded a Professional Training Centre in Drenica Valley in previous years. Most of the orphans in the area live in houses without clean water or sanitation.

Your efforts have paid for:

- 20 Orphans from Drenica Valley to have water wells constructed in their homes
- Clean water and sanitation to each of their homes
- 10 older orphans to be trained in plumbing to maintain the wells and eventually earn a living

Orphan
General Fund
Worldwide

Remaining donations

Any money left over will be used towards funding amazing projects that come to the Islamic Relief Orphans and Children's desk. This will help Orphans across the world who are most in need.

Here at Charity Week, we want to pioneer taking the organisation and promotion of our Islamic vision into the digital age.

The leap in technology needs to be matched by a desire to utilise it for a greater purpose. The following page indicates how we are doing so.

The Charity Week 2010 Annual Report

Our 2010 Annual Report took Islamic youth work to the next level by providing a highly readable form of communication and accountability. The Annual Report won high praise from many who said it compared favourably with similar reports produced by multinational NGOs.

Accountability Document

In our drive to improve accountability within the project, we have created a document that details the variety of different ways that the project and those working within it are responsible and to whom.

Job Descriptions

Detailed job descriptions of each major role within Charity Week including a summary, common tasks and a skills matrix so that everyone knows who does what. A useful guide for those wanting to get involved.

Feedback 2011

Our extensive external and internal feedback process is summarised in the following report. It highlights strength, weaknesses and will be actioned to help improve standards year on year.

Winner of the National Young Muslim Beacon Award

Here at Charity Week we are very keen to remind each other that the reason we do this work is not for power or glory, but for the sake of uniting the Muslim youth upon Islam and the pleasure of Allah.

However, it was nice to see that the wider public and the elders of the Muslim community recognise the work that has been done. Speaker of the House Mr Bercow handed the award to Syed Owais, head of Charity Week communications at an event attended by various MPs, dignitaries and leading Muslim youth. From the prayer room to the palace of Westminster, it has been an amazing journey... and the best part is that inshaAllah we've only just begun!

Feedback & Challenges

Alhumdulillah we have received a great amount of positive feedback. However, we also have had constructive criticisms and suggestions made both internally and externally. These serve to remind us of our main challenges in the year ahead. They include the following key areas:

Publicity

Whilst our publicity has improved year on year, we still lag behind other similar organisations and are yet to go viral, e.g. Youtube hits for Charity Week Trailer < 2000 For Al Maghrib Animation 50,000 For Baba Ali > 1 Million

Working with More Organisations

There are various Muslim youth groups out there that we may be able to partner with in order to bring Charity Week to a larger audience, e.g. YMUK, YMOUK, MAB Youth etc.

Website

Whilst the website has come on in leaps and bounds, it still has some way to go before it becomes the cyber-hub for all things Charity Week, e.g. Productive Muslim Website or Muslim Youth helpline

Being National

Whilst Charity Week has taken off on a local level, the National aspect of the project has yet to be exploited to an appropriate degree, e.g. national mountain climb or competitions

Expanding Beyond Universities

Universities have been the heart of Charity Week from the start, but the potential outside the lecture theatre is greater, e.g. get schools and colleges on board, youth groups etc.

London & South

This year, one of the largest Muslim student events of the year got even better with THE Annual Dinner combining London and the South region. With coaches coming from as far as Portsmouth, amazing talks by the likes of Navaid Aziz and nearly 800 people in attendance, it was an event not to be missed.

Wales

The Temple of Peace in Cardiff was the improbably grand setting for volunteers from across Wales to celebrate their achievements during Charity Week. After an entertaining talk by Dr. Magdy, it was beautiful to see students from Newport to Glamorgan meeting up over meaty dishes!

Midlands

Over 250 students came together from across the midlands to celebrate in style and reflect upon their united efforts. The sound of the "takbeer" echoing through the corridors on the announcement of the grand total will stay with many for a long time.

North

Great venue, lots of tasty food, beautiful people (and that's just the brothers mashaAllah) and a chance to find out who were the heroes of Charity Week 2011 in the North. From Lancaster to Newcastle, Hull to Liverpool - all roads led to Manchester that evening.

Scotland

First time hosts, Edinburgh did not disappoint their brethren as the Scotland Round-off was a night to remember. The legendary Habib Malik inspired attendees with a speech that left many people teary eyed.

Ireland

The Irish Annual Dinner was well attended by delegates from across the emerald isle coming to hear the totals announced. And, in what is surely the most delicious event, a representative of each university took part in the cutting of a Charity Week cake.

Concluding Remarks

Charity Week is more than just a project. It is a vehicle for Muslims to think differently, to unite upon a common vision and to move forward together to change the world for the better.

Only through continual self-appraisal will we rectify our mistakes. Only through transparency will we win the trust of the people. Only through real and tangible results will we make progress. And only through the mercy of Allah will we be successful in our ultimate vision. The path is long but the destination is the same. We hope you may be inspired to join us on the journey.

Charity Week for Orphans & Needy Children was founded in 2004 and is an independent voluntary fundraising organisation. The aim of Charity Week is to unite Muslim students for one week of the year by raising money for orphans and needy children. Charity Week is supported by Islamic Relief. No administration costs are taken from funds raised for Charity Week.
